

Technology Literacy Coach Program

Technology literacy is the ability of students to use the tools of their society with skill in an ethical, accurate, and insightful manner to meet the demands of the 21st Century workplace and world.

Program Goals

- To assist every student in crossing the digital divide by ensuring that every student is technologically literate by the time the student finishes eighth grade, regardless of the student's race, ethnicity, gender, family income, geographic location, or disability.
- Reduce the information and technology literacy gap between schools and improve student performance on the eighth grade technology literacy assessment.

Technology Literacy Coach Role

- Assist Title I middle schools in utilizing student technology literacy assessment data.
- Assist classroom teachers in integrating effective strategies for improving student technology literacy.
- Provide professional learning and coaching that result in increased student technology literacy.
- Meet with other Technology Literacy Coaches for collaboration, training, stimulus funds accountability reporting.
