REFLECTING BACK

The beginning of the school year is always super busy. So, with seven weeks of school now under our belt, I thought this would be a good time to review some of the school-wide policies and procedures we shared at the start.

1. Dress code

- Students may wear "slides", flip flops, sandals. Students may not wear house shoes/bedroom "slippers".
- Sagging pants should not be worn at school.
- Shorts, skirts, and dresses should be fingertip length or longer.
- Tank tops and camisoles should have straps at least three fingers in width.
- Midriff shirts, crop tops, pajamas, and low cut tops are not be worn at school.
- Bandanas, caps, visors, hoods, sunglasses, and sweat bands should not be worn.
- Clothing of any kind with suggestive phrases, illegal activity or substances, inappropriate designs or markings or profanity should not be worn.
- Jeans, skirts, shorts, etc. with holes that are above fingertip length should be worn with something under them so that skin does not show.
- Open toe shoes are allowed when appropriate (During PE and science experiments are good examples of when open toe shoes should not be worn).

2. Food and drink

- In general, food and drink should not be taken outside the cafeteria.
- Vending machines should be used only with permission unless before or after school.
- Food should be eaten in class only with teacher permission.
- Water bottles with caps are allowed in classes with teacher permission. It is never wise to have drinks and food in our computer labs. Glass containers should not be used.

3. Dismissal/Transportation Changes

- For safety, car riders should not walk through the parking lot. We want to ensure all our students are safe. So, please use the pickup lane to get students who are car riders. We do not want any child to be in danger of being hit by a car or to have any accidents with cars backing out of parking spaces. With only one route into and out of the school and lots of incoming traffic, we need to ensure we create as safe of an environment as possible.
- The last checkout of the day is promptly at 4:00pm.
- Transportation changes should be made no later than 3:30pm.

4. Bus Change

- A signed, written request should be given to the front office before first period. Be sure to include your student's first and last name, the first and last name of the students with whom they will ride the bus. Students are allowed only one guest per day. Also, include the bus number/lane, and your signature.
